N AND ABOUT WESTERLY

Disadvantage of Selling Native Granite in the Rough—
Local Interest in Martin Divorce Case—Proceedings in Third District Court—Masons to Attend Special Service.

Three Quincy granite manufacturing concerns have two large jobs each in Westerly granite, which was sent from here in the rough. There are similar instances in many other places, while most of the stonecutters in Westerly are idle. There is a general demand for Westerly granite in the house work and if the native granite could not be purchased in the rough by outside concerns, the manufacturing would all be done in Westerly and there would be no idle stonecutters in town.

Judge Charles W. Butler of New London was in Westerly and Ashaway, Friday, in the interests of Senator Frank B. Brandegee as receiver for the Norwich and Westerly Street Railway company properties. It is many years since Judge Butler visited Westerly, and he was surprised at the growth and beauty of the town. The judge, who is a boy on a Stonington farm he made occasional visits to the village of Westerly, and therefore fully appreciated the marked improvement. He was retired from the judgeship of the New London police court several years ago by reason of age limitation, after many years of faithful service. As a young man, and after college graduation, Judge Butler was editor of the New Haven Palladium.

Mrs. Etta H. Martin, daughter of Rev. Dr. Jay Hanson Hamilton, a former pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church in Westerly, is defendant in a divorce proceeding in Brooklyn. Dr. Hamilton was formerly in charge of the DeKalb Avenue church. In court, Thursday, in husky voice and with much emotion he was a conscientious witness against his daughter, who is a well known church singer and wife of Edwin H. Martin. He related his vain attempts to induce his daughter to control her infatuation for one of the co-respondents named in the husband's complaints.

In the Third district court Judge Oliver H. Williams at the regular session Friday, for non-appearance, the bond was declared forfeited in the neglect to support case against James McGrath. The case against Edward Robinson, for non-support, was discontinued upon payment of costs. The case against Joseph Glardino was discontinued upon payment of costs, at request of the defendant. The other criminal complaints were continued for two weeks.

On the civil side the action of Eliza Brien against James E. Coleman, having been settled, was discontinued. The other cases on the docket were continued two weeks. A writ was entered in the case of Elmalia DiPietro against Rafaela Russo, an action to recover on a book account.

The hearing in the trespass case of Mary P. Blanchard against J. Irving Maxson, to recover damages for the removal of a fence in a driveway off Mechanic street, was resumed Friday afternoon before Justice James E. Kennedy in the office of William A. Wilcox in Pawtucket. Damages of $50 were claimed by Justice Kennedy gave judgment in favor of plaintiff for $35. From this judgment appeal was taken to the court of common pleas for New London county.

DOG SHOT IN HOTEL CORRIDOR.

Animal, Apparently Mad, Cornered After It Had Frightened Patrons.

New York, Dec. 17.—Patrons of the Hotel Majestic, Central Park West and Seventy-first street, were startled while at breakfast today by shouts and barks, and then a pistol shot, and an exultant yell from James B. Fitzgerald, a patrolman of the park squad, who, after chasing a frenzied fox terrier up and down the hotel corridor for half an hour, succeeded in driving the animal into a corner of the corridor and shooting it.

Robert E. Ward, taxicab starter, was at his post outside the hotel when the terrier ran up to him, barking and snapping at his heels. Ward gave the dog a playful kick which sent it after some one else. As it ran from one chauffeur to another, the dog became more excited, and as it started to chase it, the terrier dodged him and then caught hold of his shoe with its teeth. Ward managed to wrench his foot free.

Fitzgerald heard the taxicab man shouting and, believing that the dog was mad, he drew his revolver and started on the animal. The terrier promptly dashed into the hotel corridor. Bellboys, clerks, cleaners and patrons ran for cover.

MUSICAL JIMMY IN POCKET.
Passing Detective Recognized the Notes of the Instrument.

New York, Dec. 17.—Detective Upton's musical ear assisted him in making an arrest in West Third street last night. He heard a familiar sound come from the overcoat pocket of a youth and recognized the pitch of a jimmy, having had occasion to use the instrument in place of a tuning fork. So he laid a hand upon the youth's shoulder.

As Upton had guessed, there was a jimmy in the pocket. But that was not all. Upton was in the neighborhood to keep an eye on anyone who might enter the place of the late John J. Hadlock, who was shot and killed on West Third street, as a padlock had been removed from a door on the fourth floor, where was stored $500 worth of hardware. In the boy's overcoat pocket, rattling against a jimmy, he found a padlock too.

"Come with me," said the detective, and he led the boy back to the station. Then he took him to police headquarters. The boy gave his name as Antonio Castillo, 18 years old. He was arraigned in place of the late John J. Hadlock, who was shot and killed on West Third street, as a padlock had been removed from a door on the fourth floor, where was stored $500 worth of hardware. In the boy's overcoat pocket, rattling against a jimmy, he found a padlock too.

BOSTON CANDIDATE ARRESTED.
John C. Hadlock, Home Rule Aspirant to Mayoralty, Must Explain.

Milford, N. H., Dec. 17.—John C. Hadlock, an attorney of Boston, and the "home rule" candidate for mayor of that city, was arrested today in custody of a police inspector. Hadlock was arrested here last night, and it is understood that irregularities in securing the removal of a padlock from a door on the fourth floor of a building on West Third street, as a padlock had been removed from a door on the fourth floor, where was stored $500 worth of hardware. In the boy's overcoat pocket, rattling against a jimmy, he found a padlock too.

A PATRON OF NEEDY HORSES.
Adolph Meizer of Evansville, Ind., Will Feed Them and Nurse Them.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 17.—Adolph Meizer is building a large stable, where he will feed and nurse the persons unable to care for the animals during the winter.

He also expects to buy a farm where worn out and sick horses may be cared for. Mr. Meizer is a bachelor who believes that his mission in life is to help dumb animals.

Imports the Highest Ever.
The country's foreign trade returns for November indicate that our business revival is in danger of being overdone. It has marched along so far in advance of the European recovery from trade depression as to place the United States at a disadvantage in maintaining such a trade balance as will exclude heavy exports of gold. This will appear from the following comparison of November merchandise exports and imports:

COUNCILS TO CONSOLIDATE.
New Haven Knights of Columbus to Get in Closer Unity.

A movement is on foot among New Haven Knights of Columbus to consolidate all the New Haven councils into one or two great councils, the object being greater unity of purpose, economy and the general strengthening of the organization locally. One definite object of the proposed consolidation is the acquisition or erection of a common hall, or club house, which is a long cherished object of all local knights.

Rabbits and Partridges.
The fish and game commissioners call attention to the fact that all hunters' licenses will expire Jan. 1. This uniform expiration is provided for in the act passed at the last session of the general assembly. The law does not go off on rabbits until Jan. 15, so that hunters who wish to hunt bunny must take out a new license. This law will cover the entire year of 1931. It is almost too soon yet to say whether the experiment of importing the Hungarian partridge into this state is a success. Many of the birds have become acclimated and have bred. They will be protected until the season of 1931. They will have had two years' protection, but in the opinion of hunters this time is not long enough. In some states the birds have been protected for ten years and this period has been considered necessary to give them a chance to propagate.

Home from Wedding Trip.
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Lilley have returned from the wedding trip abroad and are spending several days with Mrs. Lilley's parents in Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Lilley have visited Europe and the Orient on their trip and arrived at San Francisco last Friday. They will be in Washington this week.

Home Exercises.
There is a society woman in Newport who detests outdoor life, in the sun especially, and she keeps the figure as she wishes it to be by doing all the dusting on two floors of her home, and she says, any day she will take a ladder to get the dust off the picture frames. A system of exercise boxes has been devised, and it is said, more dust, arouse interest and keeps up excitement in the chase.

A woman physician, who has office practice exclusively, says that she keeps herself at a required weight by going to the basement early each morning and imagining someone is chasing her from the roof. She runs up and then goes back again. This she repeats twice—Harper's Bazar.

Christmas stockings filled with bright colored candies or popcorn, with perhaps a gift hidden among the goodies, cause much pleasure during the Christmas season. If the latter, two thicknesses are better than one. The small daughters of the family will enjoy to the uttermost buttonholing these stockings, and an excellent way of having them expend some of their Christmas energy. ## LOEB'S TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

Collector Says There is Nothing Sensational in It.

Washington, Dec. 17.—"I have no news to tell you," said Mr. Loeb, collector of the port of New York, who is spending the day in Washington. "There is absolutely nothing sensational in my visit, and I cannot talk about the proceedings touching the sugar investigations now under way in New York."

Mr. Loeb said he was looking for the arrival almost any day of the first of the automatic scales which it is proposed to place on the docks at New York for sugar weighing purposes. This will be thoroughly tested, and it is found satisfactory, twenty of the scales will be installed. Good results are expected from their introduction, as they eliminate the human element largely in the determination of weight.

The question of whether any of the independent refining companies other than those with which the government has been conducting negotiations for a settlement has profited by the short weighing of sugar, Mr. Loeb said, was still being investigated.

When asked whether any further changes in the customs house force were contemplated, Mr. Loeb replied that he had no news to tell. He does only those of a routine character occurring from time to time.

The collector spent almost the entire day in conferences with Secretary MacVeigh and his assistants.
